Farmer Jones and his cow pen

BY W. M. BRUNSON

The month of May is huckleberry month, and we generally have a few huckleberries as our crop. The farmer who plants his lands to huckleberries, always ready to come forth and cheer us on our pathway through life.

When mother is taken from us there is an aching void in our heart, an empty place that can be filled only by mother. How we miss her tender voice, her ever soothing touch, her words of comfort and cheer. She has passed from this life of tears into a land of eternal rest. In such hours we are made to realize how weak and how that we can do, is to bow in humble submission to God's will, and say "Thy will be done." For the Lord will do all things. We will miss her, blessed be the name of the Lord. Grieve not, loved ones, for we are taught that death, for we are taught that death has no power over those who are in the arms of our Savior of an eternal home in heaven if we come unto Him, and abide in Him. We know it is not to part with loved ones here, but we must submit to God's will, for He never makes a mistake. And, too, we should realize that our loss is but a gain. She was 20 years of age at the time of her death. She had been in declining health for about a year, and she was a companion. She was 20 years of age at the time of her death. She had been in declining health for about a year, and she was a companion.

Next month is blackberry month. In fact, blackberries are already beginning to ripen. This country is famous for its blackberries. We need many blackberries as we need, at the same time this country gains about one-third of its income from the sale of blackberries. I realize that it takes sugar and fruit jars to save the berries, but I believe that most of us could get these things if we started in time. Every blackberry has a certain amount of food value in it, and every berry should be saved. I have never known of the first berry that had two more canned blackberries. We can eat the berries, or we can make jam, jelly, and under the present law it is permitted to make wine. (You can't make more than five gallons of wine, and I am not encouraging anyone to make even this much.) We try to gather all of our cotton, corn and peanuts and most of our work hard to save these crops, but somehow we are negligent about blackberries. Blackberries grow wild and it must be that we are indifferent about blackberries because they are wild. Our people buy strawberry plants and they plant, fertilize and work them in the garden. At the same time, we neglect the blackberries that grow in the woods. How many blackberries will you eat on your farm this year? What explanation or excuse can you give for permitting people to come to your farm and pick blackberries? You know the farmers will need more of them. How can we ever expect to have anything, if we permit things to be taken from us to waste, when we learn the art of saving. I believe we would be less hungry and suffering in this section.

During the past week I have been making some inquiries about hogs. I have inquired of several people and I have been told that the first man who has supplied his pig with charcoal, lime or phosphate at the same time he has fed him, says they are trying to raise hogs. Any farmer can raise hogs, and in fact, the blackberry men will be employed as foremen and technicians.

Through all the men to be used are to be at the work camps by June 30, that is to say, each man must have full compliance with then, as soon as camps are completed shipment of men into them will begin and work will get under way. Construction of the camps will take from two to three weeks, it is understood.

Col. Bunker will have charge and direction of the forestry work for which he worked out and completed plans for. He also has completed all plans and details for the work or more of additional projects which he recommended together with those now authorized.

Alabama Gets Four Forest Projects In Program; One Is To Be Located In Covington

MONTGOMERY, May 21.—The act of allocation to Alabama of four State reforestation projects as a part of President Roosevelt's reforestation program has been received by Col. S. B. Barker, State forester, from officials of the U. S. Forest Service in Washington.

The work, comprising a total of approximately 210,000 acres, is to be carried out by men quartered in the four camps which will have a personnel of 212 men to be in work camps by June 30.

These camps will be located as follows: Mobile County: Somewhere in the vicinity of Oak Grove.

Covington County: Near Opp in the Geneva State Park.

Cleburne and Calhoun: Some where near the county line, probably on the Cleburne side.

Walker County: Some miles west of Jasper, the county seat.

About 75,000 acres of State and county lands are included in the Mobile project, around 90,000 acres of State lands in the Geneva State Park project, in Covington, 25,000 acres in the Cleburne and Calhoun, and 20,000 acres in Walker.

As it is rather late in the season for the planting of trees, Col. Barker said that the work will consist of road building, construction of fire-breaks, construction of telephone lines, forest fire hazard reduction, and fire prevention and suppression, improvement, cutting of trees, and protective and improvement activities generally.

In the areas concerned, he said, where State lands are to be improved, intervening private lands between State holdings will also be included.

The four projects just authorized are the first to be officially allocated to Alabama of the kind recommended by the State Forester to U. S. Forest Service authorities at a recent conference in Washington, between Federal authorities and forest representatives from the respective states.

There are some 20 others and it is hoped that additional allocations will be announced in the near future.

Locations of camps will be selected by U. S. Army officers. No time is to be lost in making these decisions.

Col. Bunker was informed yesterday that Capt. Ramsey from Fort Benning, Ga., has been detailed to make the selection for the Cleburne-Calhoun project Monday. After that he will go to Walker to pick a site for the camp there. He will be accompanied by State Forest Inspector James Stauffer.

U. S. Army officers will look after the construction equipment and operation of camps, three officers being stationed at each camp for that purpose. A few additional men will be employed as foremen and technicians.

Through all the men to be used are to be at the work camps by June 30, that is to say, each man must have full compliance with then, as soon as camps are completed shipment of men into them will begin and work will get under way. THE STORY SO FAR—Joyce Ashkin, poor stenographer, in a skidding taxicab accident in Chicago, suffered loss of memory. Two years later she woke one morning after a fall from her horse to find that she had lost her memory.

Her troubles were further complicated when she read a letter referring to a baby—was it hers?—that the writer, Sophie, thought Frills ought to have with her. Much to the surprise of Sam, her husband's employer, she asked for a dog and he got her one.

ALABAMA FARM LANDS PAY $4,639,000 Tax Burden

By The

It is reported by F. W. Gist, statistician of the department of agriculture, that the tax burden on Alabama farm lands is $4,639,000 in 1932. The average tax per acre has grown from 10¢ in 1913 steadily until it reached 25¢ in 1925 and the same again in 1930.

Mr. Gist shows that despite the rapid increase in tax rate per acre Alabama is the lowest in the East South Central group of States and compares with 42¢ for Kentucky, 47¢ for Tennessee, and 51¢ for Mississippi.

FARMER JONES AND HIS COW PEN

BY W. M. BRUNSON

I have had quite a bit to say about saving the blackberries on your farm, but I feel so vitally interested on this subject that I want to call the matter to your attention again. The farmers in Southeast Alabama have not been careful as they should be about saving berries and I wish to appeal to you to encourage your neighbors to see to it that all the berries are gathered and utilized. We can fill the pantries with jelly, jam, nectar, preserves, canned berries and wine if we will only start in time in this work. It is not only your duty to save the berries on your farm but it is also your duty to advise and encourage your neighbor to do likewise, and I hope and trust that every good farmer in this section will take time to help himself and his neighbor in this matter. Please remember that each community is happy and prosperous if all the people are happy and prosperous. We cannot live to ourselves under present conditions.

Observation and experience has taught me that it is sometimes necessary for us to be disciplined with our own conduct in order to make ourselves do the things we have been thinking we would do. It is now the last of May, and it is a pretty good time for each farmer to take an inventory of himself and his activities and thereby ascertain as to whether or not we have used our thinking facilities as we have our hands. Suppose you sit down and make a list of the things you now have or the things you will have in the next thirty days. After you make this list, you will probably feel like kicking yourself and it might help some of us if we would kick ourselves. I would like to suggest some of the things we should be doing at the present time, but please bear in mind that there are dozens of other things as there are always communication or town growing or demanding things which other communities do to each other. Each two horse farmer in this section of the State should be gathering in some cash money at the present time and here are some of the things we should be doing today: Every two-horse farmer should be selling at least twenty dozen eggs each week; he should be selling his second shipment of broilers and fryers by the first of June; each farmer should be selling at least two dollars worth of corn per week and many of us could and should be selling a few pounds of butter to our friends in town. We should be selling several dollars worth of gosh, peas, new Irish potatoes, cabbages and so forth, and we should be getting the world's best refrigeration service. See the new 10% G-E—more ice—faster freezing—uses less current—operates so quietly you can scarcely hear it.

Do you know of anyone who carries hatred and malice in his or her heart? Of all the classes of men who hold themselves out as good citizens, that man who carries hatred and malice in his heart against his fellow man is probably the most contemptible. Christ taught a doctrine of love, peace and forgiveness. If you carry hatred in your heart for your neighbor, you cannot be a follower of Christ. We cannot be a follower of Christ with these qualities in us. Have you made a "blood count" of your own disposition to acquiesce as to whether or not there is the slightest hint of hatred or malice in yourself against your neighbor? I believe every word of our Bible, and if the Bible is true, that man who carries hatred is not a child of God, and if we hold ourselves out to our fellow man as Christians and at the same time carry hatred and malice in our hearts against our neighbors and fellow men, we are nothing more than a cheat and a swindle. It is also my opinion that our neighbors know us better than we know ourselves, and even though we hold ourselves as Christians, if we carry hatred and malice against some neighbor it is known to our other neighbors and we are looked on as a cheat, swindle, fake. Nothing has ever been gained by hatred. If there is a difference between you and your neighbor, why not let him man enough to do the Christian thing and that is first get yourself right and then go to your neighbor and straighten up the difference. There will not be any difference in Heaven, and the man who holds differences against a fellowman will not have an opportunity of holding them in a world to come. Every one of us should clean our own hearts, make peace with our neighbor and live a life filled with love, forgiveness and humbleness.

LETTER FROM MR. SPURLIN

May 22, 1933.

Dear Editor and Readers—

I have been negligent about writing lately. Please pardon me. Am at home the first time since before Christmas. Home is with sister Pamie and husband, Mr. O. J. Clark, near Kinston. I will not be at home long but am undecided yet where I will go next. Have been visiting as many people as I can. I can't be satisfied till I visit them again, unless I had something to keep my mind occupied. These people who have taken me into their homes and cared for me are making my life worth living and I am truly thankful for such friends.

The farmers of this community seem to have their crops in fairly good condition. I went to Sanford, between Opp and Andalusia yesterday, and most of the crops between here and there are in good shape. They had a nice rain at Opp and beyond yesterday afternoon.

There is lots said about education. I have not education enough to know what it is, but think during children's school days if they were trained to think and were taught to do the practical things they would need two applications, the first shortly after they are set and another about the time they are setting fruit.

Mr. Brown said that if other vegetables do not have a vigorous green color they should get an application of nitrogen as a side-dressing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Mullins and family spent Sunday in Daleville.

Broughton Hamm of Montgomery visited his parents in Elba the first of the week.

Mrs. Cora B. Hardy of Auburn was the guest of Mrs. E. H. Crumpton Tuesday and Wednesday.

Miss Marie Hamm has returned from a short visit to Opp and Andalusia.

Mrs. J. C. McLeod and Miss Nell Brock were visitors to Troy last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Michel and Mrs. Willie Michel left Monday for Georgiana to make their home. Mr. Michel has accepted a position in that city.

Misses Annette Horn and Virginia Ward of New Brockton visited Mrs. W. R. Crook last Friday.

Mrs. C. S. Lee, Sr., has returned from Evergreen, where she spent the winter. She will spend the summer at her home here.

There will be a grave yard working at Mt. Zion on next Saturday morning, May 27. We urge everybody to come and bring tools. Come early, as it is our regular meeting day. COMMITTEE.

Gardeners Urged To Continue Work

AUBURN, Ala. — Gardeners

continue their planting work in order to be certain they will have fresh vegetables the year round, said Julian Brown, extension horticulturist of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

"It is time to plant more beans and at this season it will be found that pole beans are more productive than are bush beans," he said. The Kentucky Wonder variety is suggested. He also suggested that more tomato plants be set.

In addition, he advises gardeners to begin now to get land in good shape for the fall garden. Cabbages, cabbages, beets, and carrots should be planted the last of June.

Gardeners in the Southern part of the State usually delay this planting until early July.

He said that tomatoes and other vegetables respond well to a side application of a quick-acting nitrogen fertilizer at the rate of about one pound to 100 feet of row.

Those who are unable to secure commercial nitrogen should use about 100 feet of row bushel to the 100 feet of row. Tomatoes usually need two applications, the first shortly after they are set and another about the time they are setting fruit.

Mr. Brown said that if other vegetables do not have a vigorous green color they should get an application of nitrogen as a side-dressing.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Mullins and family spent Sunday in Daleville.
